the men from dissipation. I hope that of recent years the game has been dul and uninteresting to those who are not experied in the technicalities and strategy of the plays. The mass plays, by the concealment of the movements of the men from spectators and officials, have contributed largely to this dulness and have done what is worse—they have increased the percentage of injuries to a very objectic naive search. This has been denied, but not convicing.

The statement that open plays by reason of the rapid motion of the men are more dangerous than the mass plays proves absolutely nothing even I've the statement be true. Furthermore it is not sufficient for the enthusiastic advocates of the game is not depend to the sufficient for the enthusiastic advocates of the game is a should be made more a student affair than a racecourse celebration, such as it is at providing the past three years fully its process. It is think the way to do that is to limit the attendance to undergraduates and the committee that has been men of serious nature, and that, while those new to the game are more likely to suffer the good players also have their share of the casualities.

During the past three years fully its percent of the entire list of men appearing on the field have been laid off from time to time to recover from injuries. Fortunately, none of them has been permanently or fatally hurt so far as can be known. Granting that all forms of sport carry with them the possibilities of injury and that every sport which is capable of teaching course and manhood to a grow in the providence of the part of the casualities.

Lelp to eradicate.
On the football field it is customary to weaken an opponent by bruises or otherwise. Good generalship seems to direct all the hard plays at a single valuable player of the opposing side, particularly if he is a good punter. In case any man shows distress he must be vigorously attacked in order to drive him out of the game. This is called strategy. If it is chivalry, why, then, chivalry was a poor kind of siuff and we may thank God its long past.

One is painfully disappointed with the passage of every season over the absence of chivalrous conduct. It is the rarest thing to note even an evidence of generosity between opponents. The visiting team goes to the college where the game is played, rides out to the field, performs its engagement and then goes home. The interchange of attentions that the ordinary laws of hospitality indicate as proper between friends is reduced to mere business arrangements; an excuse is always offered that the men are excited and exhausted after a hard game. Those who have sat on the bleachers are not exhausted and those who have played ought not to be.

Another thing fatal to good sport in the suspicion which prevails between rival universities. It is almost impossible to convince the students of any institution that the others are honest in the selection of their teams if the rivalry is very keen.

One of the fruitful causes of this is the system of recruiting from the secondary schools and from the smaller colleges. There can hardly be a doubt that the recruiting sergeants are either sent out, or allowed to go, from many places where the graduates and students ought to be sportened enough to abstain from anything which gives them an unfair advantage. I would be exceedingly difficult to provide against such practice, as rules could be assity evaded but it might be discounsed by acaping all first year men out of the university sports. There would still remain the frashmen games for them.

From the point of yield schools and the secondary was a substant from anything which gives them an unfair advantage in the standard schools

PROF. HOLLIS MAKES THIS STARTLING PROPOSITION.

Bis Article on Football Causes a Sensation at Harvard—Contest With the Elist Demoralizing—Coaches and Captains Up in Arms—Some of Their Opinions.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 6.—Prof. Hollis, chairman of the Harvard Athletic Committee, created quite a sensation about the university to-day when his article in the current issue of the Graduation Magazine came before the students. In the article, which is on football in general, Prof. Hollis suggests that the football between Harvard and Yale be discontinued on the ground that it is demoralizing. The most interesting parts of the article are as follows:

"The question has been raised several times," says Prof. Hollis, "more vigorously of late than ever. Do these young men and their game represent and influence for the general good of the university?

"Should football be allowed as an intercollegiate contest? As it is at present played in the United States the answer to these questions would involve what is fall, when seen at his room, said:

"If you take away the Yale game, you will take away half of the interest in the entire football season, for Harvard and Yale are the most natural athletic rivals in the field. The fact that the game is progressing makes it all the more beneficial to the men in it, as it develops a higher intelligence. It quickens the wits and keeps the men from dissipation. I hope that nothing will come of the talk to break football relations with Yale."

"Bob" Kernan, captain of the '0' eleven, said:

much of this unfortunate talk from the Harvard territory that Yale in making up its football schedule for the future, has really taken into consideration the possibility of not playing a game with Harvard. Yale does not want to stop playing football with Harvard, and if there is a break it will be due to just such talk as that credited to Prof. Hollis. ROAD RULES AGAIN DELAYED. Drivers and Others Agreed, but President Canter Asks for Time.

Automobilists, pleasure drivers, cyclists and other road users assembled in the City Hall yesterday afternoon to attend what it was intended should be the last hearing on the "rules of the road" ordinance before the Law Committee of the Board of Aldermen. By taking the original set of rules intro-duced by him a little more than a year ago and grafting to them some of the ideas con-tained in the rules offered by William C. Eno and the changes suggested from half a dozen other sources. Alderman Oatman had managed to present an ordinance which the committee thought would be acceptable to all. The speed limit, which had caused the great est hitch, was fixed at eight miles an hour in the outlying districts.

Borough President Jacob Cantor, however, thought the hearing should be postponed a week in order that every one might study the amended set of rules. President A. R. Shattuck of the Automobile Club said that he approved of the ordinance as it was, but thought it might be improved by inserting a rule preventing wagons and trucks from stopping on Broadway during the busy hours of the day.

Josiah Pumpelly of the West End Association said that some provision might be made for hitching horses. Alderman Oatman explained that hitching posts were illegal. This line of talk was pursued for a while and it was then decided to have a final hearing heat seek.

After May 1, when the lease of the Country Club of Lakewood expires, the present links will be kept up by a new organization, to be called the Golf Club of Lakewood. The last golf on the links under the present auspices will be the three-day open tournament, April 16, 17 and 18, and then the Country Club will pen its new course. The new Golf Club of Lakewood has applied for allied membership to the United States Golf Association. Lewis Nixon is the president, B. F. Dutton, vice-president, James N. Berry, treasurer, and Sylvester Byrnes, secretary. The new club proposes to hold many tournaments under conditions that will be particularly attractive to the "weekend" visitors to the hotels as conditions that will be particularly attractive to the "week-end" visitors to the hotels as well as the season residents at Lakewood. The links and clubhouse will be greatly im-proved, and arrangements made for indoor tennis and squash. In fact, the building will be made a perfect country club in equip-ment and conducted on the broad lines of the Casino at Newport or Narragansett Pier.

C. H. Jackson, chairman of the golf com-mittee of Cutler School, announced yesterday that the interscholastic tournament, which was not held last year, would be played again on April 15, 16 and 17, over a course to be named later. The entries will close on March 25. The tournament will consist of an individual and team championship, under the same conditions as when played last at the Oakland Golf Club.

Two of the U. S. G. A. associate clubs in the Chicago group, Onwentsia and Glenview, have announced their playing schedules for the season, about a month earlier than usual. The Glenview season of members' cont sta will start on May 2, and the Onwentsia on Decoration Day. The women's open tourna-ment at Onwentsia will be held on Aug. 18-22

Decoration Day. The women's open tournament at Onwentsia will be held on Aug. 18-22. The club fixtures will include the usual championships for men and women, and Friday will continue to be the special day for the women. Special tournaments for which the Onwentsia members will give the use of their course will be a thirty-six-hole handicap, on Saturday, Sept. 19, for members of the University Club, on the plan of the semi-annual handicap of the University Club of this city, and one for newspaper writers, on Oct. 7 and 8. The open tournament will be July 28 to Aug. 1. The Ravenoaks cip. the first prize, is now held by H. Chandier Egan, the Western champion.

At the Gledview Club the schedule offers a series of midweek and Saturday competitions from May to October, both for the women and men. There will be two open tournaments, for men on Sept. 17, 18, and 19, and for women on Sept. 24. The latter has hitherto been a three-day event, but this year it will be a one-day fixture, at thirty-six holes, medal play. In the men's tournament the medal play round will be at eighteen holes, sixteen to qualify, the final to be at thirty-six holes. No team matches have as yet been arranged but it has been decided that there will be no matches on Saturdays, when the links will be kept free for the members. Norman Bartlett will be the chalirman of the committee on sports at pastimes this season at Glenview, succeeding Phelps B. Hoyt, who will spend the season abroad.

There will be an open competition for amateurs and professionals at the Country-Club of Augusta, Ga., to-day at thirty-six holes medal play, for a cup presented by the club. On Monday the open tournament for the Bon Air and Consolation cups will begin with an eighteen-hole qualifying round and continue throughout the week, a match play round being played each afternoon.

The American League men, who are meeting at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, climbed into several automobiles at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and took a flying trip to Harlem to inspect the two sites for grounds one of which will probably be selected this morning and the location made known by President Johnson before nightfall. president Johnson, as soon as the ground question is settled, will file articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State at Albany and will then give out the officers of the new club. All details as to the building of stands and fences have been settled and work will be under way before the end of next week. The grounds in The Bronx are on the Harlem River front, accessible to the elevated system and the surface roads. They have no streett through them and belong to one of the biggest estates in the city. The grounds on Manhattan Island are within a stone's throw of the Harlem River, convenient to both the eevated and surface roads and the subway. It has a street through it which has not been cut out and will have to be closed. If the latter is selected the American League men will have to put up a lump sum to purchase the property outright, while above the river a long-term lease will be necessary. The new ball club will be owned either by a syndicate of local capitalists or a combination, which for the present will be controlled by the American League. If the latter prevails, the club will get under way before the stock is disposed of to New Yorkers. It is simply a matter of choice and the public will receive the same benefits, no matter which deal goes through. ADVANCE GUARD TO BE SOLD. Carruthers and Shields, Disagreeing, Will Put Him on the Block.

Because of the dispute between James Carruthers and Alexander Shields as to the ownership of Advance Guard, the "iron horse," it is said, will be put up at auction ownership of Advance Guard, the 'Iron horse,' it is said, will be put up at auction within the next ten days. Carruthers and Shi elds have decided to dissolve partnership owing to the trouble between them relative to the registration of Advance Guard's entry. Sever al months ago Carruthers sold his interest in all of the horses in Shiek's's stable except Advance Guard, and since then there have been several disputes as to which should have his colors carried by the son of Great Tom. Nelie Van.

When Advance Guard was entered for the apring handicaps this year it was in the name of A. Shields, but as there was a charge of irregularity the matter was brought to the attention of Carruthers, who called at the Jockey Club's offices a few days ago and registered Advance Guard's ownership again showing that he and Shields held equal interests and stipulating that the horse should run in Carruthers's name. Shields protested against this, setting up the claim that he owned a controlling interest and threatened to take the matter before the stewards of the Jockey Club. But as the tangle was intricate, Shields decided to go to Toronto yesterday to arrange with Carruthers for an auction sale, which appears to be the only way to settle the difficulty. An offer of $30.000 was made by W. C. Whitney for the horse last season and was refused. It is possible that Mr. Whitney will be a bidder at the proposed sale. Advance Guard's stake engagements this year amount to nearly $100.000.

to Health Ry Paine's Celery Compound.

In back and hips, imbs and abdomen frequently swell, piles do their annoying work, there is vertigo, palpitation of the heart and debility.

When any of these warning symptoms are experienced, the use of Paine's Celery Compound will do wonders for anxious and suffering women. Paine's Celery Compound used regularly for a few weeks will build up nerve force and physical strength, tone digestion, keep the kidneys and liver in working condition, will banish gloomy fears and give sweet sleep. It has saved thousands of women from terrible sufferings and death. Miss Annie Pasold, of De Witt, Iowa, tells how Paine's Celery Compound made her mother well and strong; she says:

"My mother was taken very sick by approaching change of life and was confined to her bed for seven weeks. We employed the best doctor, but his efforts were of little avail. She could not keep anything on her stomach, could not sleep and she wasted to a shadow. We procured a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound for her. Its use gave grand and wondrous results. She soon slept well at night, got stronger and her appetite returned. She is now well and strong and does her work with pleasure. She would not be without Paine's Celery Compound for any consideration."

FITZ AFTER O'BRIEN. Agrees to Box Quaker Pugilist for Middle weight Title.

Failing to secure a mill with Tommy Ryan, Failing to secure a mill with Tommy Ryan, former Campion Bob Fitzsimmons is now going to direct his attention toward Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia. The other day the Quaker puglist issued a challenge to meet "Lanky Bob" at the middle weight limit for the title; and yesterday Fitz, who is on tour with Jim Jeffries through Pennsylvania, accepted. Fitz says that he will fight O'Brien at 185 pounds. Those who know O'Brien's condition say that he cannot get to 158 pounds and be strong, as he is fast growing. O'Brien, however, declares he can and is ready to make a match at this weight. O'Brien has $1,000 as a forfeit with Al Smith. The money was deposited about a month ago to arrange a battle with Tommy Ryan for middleweight honors
